The impact of COVID-19 on Research

With Covid-19 surpassing 7 millions cases worldwide, including over 400,000 deaths, the pressure is on Academy and Pharma industry to accelerate a vaccine through clinical trials and into patients, as quickly as possible - easier said than done.

Covid-19 research is obtain results in a very short time, and this massive global effort is already modifying pre-clinical and clinical research compressing times from years to months.

Our course proposal aims to answer the following question:

- ✚ What is changing in pre-clinical and clinical research?
- ✚ How will they ensure the validity and safety of the results in such a short time?
- ✚ How will Pharma Legislation and Marketing change?
